AS WE GROW in maturity, we become aware of two important realizations. The first is that people are not born with beliefs and opinions; these are the result of education and experience. Therefore people's beliefs and opinions are constantly being refined as they are exposed to new experiences and ongoing education.

The second is that belief is something that evolves in our lives. Have you always believed exactly what you believe today? Of course, you haven't. You have developed your beliefs in response to the education and experiences that you have been exposed to along the way. And there is a very good chance that your beliefs will continue to change as you grow in intellectual and spiritual maturity in the years to come. We are not born with beliefs. They are developed along the way. Taken on and discarded. Lived and tested. Abandoned and betrayed. Belief is at the essence of being human, so we cannot earnestly seek to become perfectly ourselves and ignore the role belief plays in our lives.

A Family Perspective

The demands of family can be so overwhelming we feel walking on water would be easier. When Jesus was pressured, He dismissed everyone, so he could be “by himself and pray.” When overwhelmed and stressed, go to a quiet place, and surrender your pressured feelings to the Lord using Peter’s prayer in today’s gospel: “Lord, save me.”
